

Tahiti Halo Rattan Pendant [Natural]

Put any room in the spotlight with this beautiful Tahiti Halo pendant. Not only a great hanging lamp by day but especially by night when switched on, thanks to the weaving, the lamp has beautiful light and shadow effects, which provide exciting and playful effects in any room.

All our Tahiti pendants are hand-made from rattan. Rattan is a climbing palm or liana that is using trees as support and can grow up to 100 meters long. Most of the existing rattan species grow in tropical forest of South East Asia, of which 70% in Indonesia. The Tahiti collection has been inspired by existing vintage designs, and our designers have given it a modern touch. The looks are completed with a stylish cloth cord and a black metal ceiling cap.
